A Clever Collie.

T. Sidney Cooper, the English animal painter, says that he often made valuable studies in Cumberland, at places where Scotch drovers halted with their cattle for the night. On such occasions he often had a chance to see illustrations of an animal's intelligence, as well as of its physical perfection.

One day, when there was a pouring rain, a man consented to sit for me at the inn where I was staying. He brought his collie with him, and both of them were dripping wet, so he put off his plaid and laid it on the floor by the dog.

I made a very successful sketch of the man, but before I had finished it the dog grew fidgety with the wet plaid, and his master said, "Take it away, mon, tak it away."

The dog took the end of it between his teeth and dragged it out of the room. After I had finished the drover's portrait I asked him if he thought his dog would lie quiet for a time, as I wished to sketch him.

"Oh, yes, mon," he answered, "he'll do anything I say to him. Watch! Watch!" he called, and then "whistled" for him, as the Scotch say.

As the dog did not appear, we went together to look for him, and found him sitting before the kitchen fire with the end of the plaid in his mouth, holding it up to dry. I expressed my admiration of his intelligence, and the master replied:

"Ah, he's a canny creature, sir! He knows a many things, does that dog, sir. But come away, mon, the gentleman wants to make your picture."

So we returned to my room, and the handsome collie sat for his portrait.

Improved Chair for Theatres.

To the theatre managers of this country is commended a new form of chair for use in theatres, music halls, etc., which is now being introduced into England. This chair is already in use in several theatres in Germany, and is intended not only to prevent panic in case of fire, etc., by enabling the audience to gain the exit doors more easily than hitherto, but also to allow officials of the theatres and members of the audience to move with freedom from one place to another.

For this purpose the seat and back of the chair are free to move, and are connected suitably together, so that by means of a counterbalance weight a mere touch of the hand will cause the seat and the back to move simultaneously on hinges to a vertical position, the seat by raising and the back by lowering, thereby allowing free passage along or through the tiers. The very idea of such a device, when the absurd amount of inconvenience and annoyance suffered in comparative patience by the ordinary theatregoer is considered, raises up visions of comfort and pleasure which it seems hard to believe will ever be realized.—New York Telegram.

A Very Wide Awake Eye.

A man of the shabby genteel order went into the reading room of one of the hotels, and seating himself in an easy chair drew a paper from his pocket. He held the paper before him, and while his left eye remained closed he appeared to be reading. Time slipped by, and it was several hours before the watchman was attracted to him. During the next hour the fellow never moved, and with fear and trembling the watchman went to his side.

The right eye gazed mechanically at the paper, and, fearing that its owner had died in that position, several of the employees of the hotel gathered around him. He was given a rough shake, which brought him to his feet, and explanations followed. The man had no money and did not want to walk the street in the pelting rain. His right eye was an artificial one, and by holding a paper in front of him and closing his left optic he could sleep, while to all appearances he was reading.—Providence Telegram.

The Rat and the Swan.

During a dreadful storm, when the river Tyne had flooded the country all around, a number of people were assembled, watching the huge masses of hay swept along in its rapid course. At length a swan came in sight, struggling sometimes for land and at others sailing in its stately manner along with the torrent. As it drew near a black spot was observed on its snowy plumage, which the spectators were astonished to find was a living rat; and it is probable it had been borne from its dwelling in some hayrick, and, seeing the swan, had hastened to it for a refuge. On the bird arriving on land the rat leaped off its back and scampered away, but a man having no respect for the sagacity which the rat had displayed killed it with a blow of his staff.—New York Mail and Express Autographic Treasures.

Among the treasures of the two literary societies of the university are many valuable and interesting letters. Rum-maging through a pile of these epistles at the Phi Kappa hall were found many letters from men who have immortalized themselves—Clay, Calhoun, Webster, Hayne, Davis, Lee. They are their letters of acceptance of honorary membership, or in reply to some letter forwarded them by the society. The most beautiful of all—and in fact it might be pronounced one of the most lovely letters ever written—was a letter of acceptance of honorary membership in the Phi Kappa society, written by Theodore O'Hara, the poet.—Athens (Ga.) GOLD EXPORTS.

The exports of specie from New York City last week amounted to $329,000, of which $354,000 was in gold, and the balance presumably in silver. The Director of the Mint writes that his effort to deter gold shipments is for the best interests of the country, and especially the business community of New York.

The effort to which the Director of the Mint alludes as having been made by him, was simply complying with a regulation made in accordance with law, not to exchange gold bars at the Government assay office in New York for coin, when the bars were to be exported. As the profits on shipping United States coin to foreign countries are not so great as the gold bars the action of the Director of the Mint has had a restraining effect on the gold shipments.

The fact that large amounts of gold have been shipped to Europe recently is caused by the balance of trade being against the United States. To take advantage of the McKinley bill, large quantities of articles of European production were imported before the increased rate of duty went into effect. The bills for those articles are now due and gold has to be exported to pay them. Usually the exports of wheat, corn, pork and beef to Europe are more than sufficient to pay all obligations of importers. Then the balance of trade is in favor of the United States and European coin flows into the country. At present, unfortunately, it is the other way, and it may continue so for some time, as it is estimated that wealthy Americans spend not less than $60,000,000 annually traveling and shopping in Europe, many of them crossing the Atlantic to replenish their wardrobes at the fashionable establishments at London and Paris, and thus evade the tariff. It is not the farmers or the workmen, who, we are told by the politicians are so greatly benefited by the tariff, that do this, but the Carnegies, whose products are so highly protected, that they can make millions in the United States to expend for luxuries in Europe.

ITALY ACTING FOOLISHLY.

Baron de Fava, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary from the Italian Government to the United States, informs the State Department at Washington that he has been recalled by his Government and will leave in a few days, leaving the Secretary of Legation in charge of current affairs. This action might be construed as a declaration of war, but in the present instance it will hardly be so considered, though that it is hasty and ill-advised will not be disputed. The cause is the New Orleans uprising against a band of assassins, who, according to report, were our laws in their own country and dare not at the peril of their lives, or at least their liberty, set foot on Italian territory. They sought refuge on American soil, renounced their allegiance to the King of Italy, and in form if not in fact, became American citizens. They were treated as native-born Americans have often been when justice in the courts miscarried. They were lynched because they were Italians but for the reason that they were assassins or the siders abettors of such, and would have met the same fate had they been of any other nationality.

That Italy is not in a position to commence hostilities against the United States is apparent to all who notice the current events in Europe, and that it would not be justified in declaring war if it was prepared to fight no one will dispute, therefore it is reasonable to assume that there will be no war between the two countries.

Baron de Fava may leave the United States, and in fact no great injury would result if every foreign Minister at Washington should do like wise and every American Minister was called home, but Italy surely is not hot-headed enough to go to war with the United States, because the citizens of New Orleans avenged the death of their Chief of Police by lynching his assassins.

THE BOARD OF ASSESSORS' BILL.

The JOURNAL's authority for the statement that the Governor was opposed to the bill creating a State Board of Assessors is perfectly reliable. Now for the edification of the Gazette, the JOURNAL will further state upon reliable authority that the Governor told the advocates of that bill that he was suspected and accused of being a railroad man and of having been elected by railroad influences, and that the passage of the bill would place him in an awkward position and confirm the suspicions of the people. The bosses, however, were inexorable, and insisted upon the bill becoming a law. The Statutes tell the rest. The JOURNAL did not say the Governor is the tool of any man, because it does not know whether he is or not, and waits for time to determine the question, and no one that we are aware of asks the Gazette to believe that he is.

Raw sugar is on the free list to-day. The duty remains on refined sugar and it is thought refiners will take advantage of that circumstance and that the price of sugar to the consumer will not be much less than heretofore, though the duty of two cents per pound has been abolished. News of Importance From Home and Abroad.

THE ITALIAN GOVERNMENT DIS-SATISFIED.

The Italian Minister to Leave Washington. Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—With an official note dated to-day, Baron de Fava, the Italian Minister, has declared to the Secretary of State that the United States Government not having given assurances that the murderers of the Italian subjects, acquitted by an American magistrate and murdered in prison while under the immediate protection of the authorities of New Orleans, would be brought to justice, "the Italian Government has found itself under the very painful necessity of showing openly its dissatisfaction by recalling the Minister of his Majesty from a country where the Italian representative is unable to obtain justice." The Baron will soon leave the United States, leaving the Secretary of the Legation in charge of only current affairs.

This action by the Italian Government caused the deepest surprise in official circles here when the fact became known. It had been generally supposed that the Italian Government would at least await the action of the New Orleans Grand Jury which is charged with the investigation of the bloody episode at the New Orleans jail. It appears, however, that the information received from its representatives must have led the Government to the conclusion that the Grand Jury investigation would fail to result in the punishment or even indictment of any person connected with the killing of the Italians.

It is also thought that the evidence of Governor Nichols in reply to Secretary Blaine was regarded as evasive of the real point at issue. The Governor's assurances that further bloodshed would not follow, unaccompanied by any excuse for the failure of the State or municipal authorities to take precautions to prevent the killing, was, it is said, regarded by the Italian Government with extreme dissatisfaction. It appeared that the United States had exhausted its resources.

The relations between National Governments and governments of State, were so fixed by the American Constitution that when the Italian Minister, obeying the demands of his Government, sought for some assurance that the persons concerned in the killing of its subjects would be punished, it was not possible for the General Government to give any definite assurance of the kind. It could, and did point to the fact that the Grand Jury was an American provision for calling before the bar of justice persons who had violated the law of the land. But this particular Grand Jury was called together under the laws of the sovereign State of Louisiana and whether or not it would punish according to the Italian idea of justice was something which no National official from the President down could guarantee, and the Italian Government was not satisfied with such views.

The Italian Government believed that the National Government of the United States had failed to give any definite assurance that reparation would be made. There was but one course and that was taken to-day when the Italian Minister notified Secretary Blaine that he had been recalled because his Government was dissatisfied with the negotiations. This is the Italian view of the matter.

There was a commotion among the State Department at Washington when the fact became known that Baron Fava had been recalled. Secretary Blaine drove to the White House at 4 p. m. where he told the President all that had occurred and discussed future prospects, remaining an hour, then returned home and was not accessible.

The State Department officials declined to discuss the matter. None of the officials cared to be quoted in their opinions, as precedents were to be looked up before they could be returned. There was, however, a general impression that the dogs of war would not be unloosed.

Fava has not demanded a passport as at first reported. A demand for passports is an extreme measure. It is taken when a war feeling runs high and the Minister's person is in danger at the hands of the populace. It is also in a degree, suggestive of a menace. A recall under the circumstances of this case is a serious matter. There could be no attempt to disguise the fact, but it does not signify that mutual explanations and diplomacy cannot restore the old status.

The Charge d'Affaires, Marquis Imperiali has been left in charge of the Italian Legation, so the severance of diplomatic relations cannot be regarded as complete. Just what the status of this official is cannot be known except through his official acts. It is stated that he is in charge of "current affairs." If any serious significance attaches to the Minister's recall this means that the Charge is to be limited in his functions, to issuing passports, instructing consular officers, and other small matters. In this case, further correspondence between the United States and Italy must take place directly between Washington and Rome.

Late this afternoon erroneous reports were in circulation respecting the alleged outrages on American citizens in Italy. A careful inquiry at the Department of State fails to disclose more than two complaints of this character during the past six months, and neither of those of a very serious nature.

It can be stated positively that unless events take an unforeseen and improbable turn there will be no call issued for an extra session of Congress. One of the most serious ill effects of these incidents will be a probable postponement for an indefinite time of the President's proposed Southern and Western trip. The view taken by the Administration as it is understood, is that this Government has done all that could be done in the matter, even if it had complete legal jurisdiction in the case, it could only assure the Italian Government that it would prosecute the persons guilty of the attack on the Italians at New Orleans. It could not assure the Italian Government that it would punish them as Italy desired, as that would be for the Grand and Petit Juries to determine. The Italian Government has been told that the President deprecates the abhorrent occurrence, and that the Government has taken steps to investigate the matter. Part of this investigation was the ascertainment of the nationality of the Italians killed, and this had not yet been learned. There is no proof whatever before the President or Secretary of State that a single Italian citizen was among the victims.

Railroad Magnates Indicted. Special to the Journal.

NEW YORK, March 31.—The Directors of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railway Company were to-day indicted by the Grand Jury for misdemeanor in connection with the fatal collision in the Fourth Avenue tunnel on February 20 last, whereby there were six lives lost. The names of those indicted are Charles H. Clark, Wilson G. Hunt, E. H. Trowbridge, William D. Bishop, N. Wheeler, Henry C. Robinson, Edward M. Reed, Joseph Park, Chauncey M. Depew, Henry S. Lee, William Rockefeller and L. W. Braicard.

The indictment charges that the corporation committed an offense, but the twelve men being Directors aided and abetted the corporation. Another court says these twelve men ran a railroad and heated cars with stoves; still another says, that certain corporation being a steam road and these men being Directors, they permitted the trains to be heated by stoves. As soon as possible the twelve men indicted will be arraigned to plead.

A Destructive Fire. Special to the Journal.

LA GRANGE, OR., March 31.—A fire in the business portion of the town this morning destroyed property valued at over $50,000. The fire started in the rear of Kelly & McCarthy's saloon building on Depot street at half past eight. The flames spread in both directions, consuming four saloon buildings and the general merchandising establishment of Merston & Huelsat. The principal losses are Merston & Huelsat, general merchandise, $40,000, insurance, $27,000; B. Thomson & Co., saloon, $4,000, insurance, $3,000; Sommer & Blum, store building, $10,000, insurance, $4,000; J. H. Slater & Son, law library, $2,000, insurance $850. Total damage, $51,000.

Decision of the Coroner's Inquest. Special to the Journal.

BENTON, March 31.—The Coroner's inquest on the body of the young woman who died on the train here to-day, decided that her name was Miss Ida Shaddock, of Maxwell, Colusa county, and that her death was caused by a criminal operation performed in San Francisco by parties unknown. The jury recommends that Petrie, who had charge of Miss Shaddock on the train, be held pending further investigation. Petrie says he did not know the young woman, but that she was put in his care by a strange man at the Oakland pier. The body will be sent to the girl's father, J. C. Shaddock, at Colusa.

La Grippe in Iowa. Special to the Journal.

DES MOINES, March 31.—The la grippe epidemic has struck Des Moines and the doctors report hundreds affected. In many cases it is proving fatal. Reports from surrounding towns show that the disease is general throughout Central Iowa. The weather, in the opinion of physicians, continues favorable to its spread.

GUNNING FOR CYCLONES.

Mr. Betts' Wonderful Invention to Annihilate Tornadoes.

From the Chicago Inter Ocean. Edward Daniel Betts is an artist and a man with a sharp eye. He read the other day about some hunter on the plains who was pursued by a relentless cyclone. In sheer desperation he turned and fired his trusty rifle at the rapidly approaching funnel shaped cloud. Instantly the wind began to lose its nerve, and in less than a minute the landscape was as beautiful as a day in June.

Mr. Betts shut himself up and wrestled with the secrets of nature. At last he struck pay gravel, and his patent is applied for.

"It is a large rubber ball filled with gun cotton or dynamite," he explained, "which will be hurled with terrific force at the cyclone. The explosive will have a fuse to it which will be ignited automatically."

He further explained that the propelling instrument was so arranged that it always pointed at the cyclone. The ball was thrown after the wind had attained a certain velocity.

Mr. Betts has had a great deal of trouble in arranging this last detail. For he found that if he set it at too low a notch the machine would go off in a stiff breeze and throw the rubber ball of dynamite over into a neighboring pasture or down into a cow lot, doing great and immediate damage to the cows without any material advantage. Then again, if the machine were set too high it would not get into active operation until the entire family had crossed the Dark river and the cyclone was in the next county.

Mr. Betts says there is no question but that a dose of dynamite will knock any cyclone cold. The machines can be put on a high pole, out of reach of goats and children.

A Vegetable Fly.

One of the most curious natural productions of the West Indies is the famed vegetable fly, an insect about the size and color of a drone bee, but without wings. In the month of May it buries itself in the earth and begins to vegetate. By the beginning of June a sprout has issued from the creature's back and made its appearance above the surface of the ground. By the end of July the tiny tree, known on the islands as the fly tree, has attained its full size, being then about three inches high, but a perfect tree in every particular, much resembling a delicate coral branch. Pods appear on its branches as soon as it arrives at its full growth; these ripen and drop off in August.

Instead of containing seeds, as one would naturally suppose, these pods have from three to six small, hard worms upon their interior. The pod soon shrivels up in the hot sun and bursts open on about the third day after becoming detached from the parent stem. The little worms roll out and bury themselves in the sand, and after undergoing the change incident to all caterpillars become flies, which, when the proper time comes, bury themselves in the ground to furnish nourishment for another miniature "fly tree."

Dr. Martinique, of the Royal Institute, who has received several boxes of these flies upon which he has made repeated experiments, gives a long scientific explanation for the seeming impossibilities attributed to this insect, which is, at best, wholly unsatisfactory to the general reader, even though his coworkers in that branch of science may consider it explanatory and conclusive.—Cor. St. Louis Republic.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the sympathetic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind.

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced."

OPERA HOUSE DRY GOODS STORE.

To the Business Men and Citizens of the State of Nevada:

THE TIME HAS COME when I am compelled to plead my own cause in this boycotting business. First, I will acknowledge that I signed the first contract to close at 8 o'clock, also that I did all I could to carry it out and help the League; but as it has been my misfortune to have reverses in business, and as I was compelled to raise money for parties that I owe, I went to the Clerk's League at a meeting on two different occasions, and told them it would be impossible for me to close at 8 o'clock.

Now, when the League says I, on different occasions, violated my pledge, all I can say and prove, and that by Mr. Al Wilson, who is a member of the League, that it is FALSE, as Mr. Wilson has been in my employ since the contract was signed.

So far as my word is concerned, it is for the people to say, and not for the League to publish such trash to the entire State. I will further state that when the time comes that a few boys try to pull down and degrade a man when he has the misfortune that I have had, then it is high time to sell out and let the boys run the town.

Respectfully, C. W. BOOTON.

BREVITIES.

Judge Cheney is holding court at Austin and has a long calendar to dispose of.

J. F. Condon, Superintendent of the Verdi Mill Company, visited Reno yesterday.

J. P. Anderson of Golconda was on yesterday's train on his way home from California.

G. W. Grayson, the cattle and mining man, passed through yesterday on his way to Winnemucca.

W. A. Martin has a thoroughbred cross Holstein and Jersey bull for sale at his Glendale ranch. See 50-cent column.

The mail train from the East, due here at 11:40, was reported about five hours late when the JOURNAL went to press this morning.

Mrs. D. A. Bender and her daughter Miss Ella, arrived from Carson last night, and the latter left for San Francisco on this morning's train.

Several inches of snow fell at Austin last week, and the last thing noticed by the Advocate Sunday night was that it was then snowing like sixty.

A. W. Lindsey, Foreman at N. H. A. Mason's ranch in Humboldt county, passed through yesterday homeward-bound from San Francisco.

The Pioche Record says unemployed men are somewhat numerous around town. Several have gone to Osceola, where some rich finds are said to have been made recently.

The magnitude of the orange shipping business from California to the East is made apparent by the fact that 61 carloads of the luscious fruit passed over the Central Pacific in the 24 hours ending Monday night.

The teachers and pupils of the Reno High School are making arrangements to give a May Day social Friday evening. May 1st, the proceeds to be applied to the purchase of supplies and apparatus for the High School.

Invitations have been issued by the University Cadets for a social party to be given by them at Thompson's Hall tomorrow evening. The boys will spare no pains to make it pleasant and enjoyable for all who attend.

Charles L. Knox, a Reno-raised young man, a son of W. N. Knox of this place, has been elected City Councilman at Spokane. He stands well in his new home, having received the highest vote of any candidate in his ward.

O. J. Brookins yesterday shipped his beautiful standard bred filly Hannah, by Del Sur, to Sacramento to be bred to Don Marvin with a record of 2:28 as a five-year-old. Mr. Brookins is determined to have fine trotting stock, and we hope he will succeed.

The Examiner says: "Miss Flora Finlayson, who sang the role of Allan-a-Dale in 'Robin Hood' last Thursday evening at the Baldwin Theater, has a pleasing contralto voice of good timbre, and there is color and brightness in her work. She is a Nevada-California girl, and this is only her second season on the stage." Miss Finlayson is a Nevada girl, raised in Reno, but California claims everything good that Nevada produces from big red apples to sweet singers.

Dr. Herdab, in consequence of numerous professional calls at Carson, has removed his principal office to that city. He will, however, until further notice, visit Reno every Monday evening, and will give professional attention to those desiring his services from 9 to 10 P. M. Mondays and from 8 A. M. to 1:45 P. M. Tuesdays at his parlors at the Clarendon Hotel. The doctor has many patients in Reno and successfully treated a large number, who will be pleased to have him remain here permanently.

The White Pine News says the gripper struck Ely like a cyclone and laid low all its inhabitants, both young and old, with one fell swoop. Ninety persons in the little town were prostrated at one time, whole families succumbing in a few hours to the malady, leaving hardly any one to administer to its victims. Happily its duration was short, and only in one case did it prove fatal. From Ely it swept down Steptoe Valley, taking in both sides, centering at Cherry Creek where at last accounts its victims numbered forty-five.

Death of Mrs. C. H. E. Hardin.

Mrs. John R. Bradley received yesterday by telegraph the sad news of the death of Mrs. C. H. E. Hardin, which occurred in San Francisco Monday night. The lady was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. H. A. Mason. She was born in San Joaquin county, California, in December, 1858, but resided in Nevada much of the time, especially since her marriage. She leaves a husband and two children, one a boy aged 6 years, the other a girl aged 3 years, to mourn the loss of an affectionate and devoted wife and mother. She had been ill for the last 18 months, in which time she was taken to all the celebrated health resorts of California, but without avail. Deceased had many acquaintances in Nevada who regret to hear of her untimely end, and sympathize deeply with her bereaved relations.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Strong Prices and Supplies Falling Off.

The Chicago Live Stock Report of last Friday says the cattle market is higher and choice cattle not plenty.

RECEIPTS AND PRICES.

The estimated receipts for the week were 57,109, and the official receipts for the previous week 65,204. Notwithstanding the strong prices that prevailed for all classes of cattle last week, supplies show a liberal falling off. The market has ruled quiet but steady for good to prime grades, while all others have ruled weak and lower. The shipping and export demand has been moderate, less cattle being shipped than last week; this enabled home buyers to procure what choice cattle they wanted without advancing prices. Some choice Kansas cattle sold at $6 15, several lots at $6 and some choice corn fed Westerns at $5 30 and $5 40 per 100 lbs. Several lots of Texans came to hand. Grassers weighing from 850 to 1,050 pounds average sold from $3 15 to $4 30, while some light meal-fed steers brought $4 30 to $4 50 per 100 lbs. No good heaves of this class arrived.

Friday with 8,500 on sale the market opened strong for best grades, others steady.

The receipts for the month will reach 249,000 head or a slight increase over last year, while the shipments (Hammond's included) will show an increase of about 10,000 head.

SHEEP.

The estimated receipts of sheep last week were 47,605; official receipts for the previous week, 50,781.

At the close of last week the market for all classes of sheep was in an unsatisfactory condition. Supplies were heavy and with only a moderate demand; the trade ruled sluggish from start to finish. Supplies have been liberal this week, and the trade has ruled weak and slow throughout. A few fancy sheep that just met the wants of the buyer brought steady prices, but all others were weak and 10 to 20 cents per 100 lbs lower. The receipts of corn-fed Westerns are decreasing, while the supply of Texans is increasing, keeping the market well supplied. The supply of lambs was a little lighter, and a little better demand existed, although prices were not quotably higher.

We quote: Good Natives and Westerns, $4 60@5 80; good to choice Texas, $4 40; common, $3 50@3 80; common to choice lambs, $4 75@6 50.

The Dispatch Controversy.

The Gazette endeavored to create the impression that the JOURNAL's dispatches were scooped from its columns and mentioned by name the senior editor of the JOURNAL as the individual who did the scooping. The JOURNAL showed that the Gazette in that, as in many other things that it assumes to enlighten the public upon, did not know what it was talking about, and that while trying to place the JOURNAL in a false light it was actually printing as news received by cable, dispatches which appeared in the JOURNAL 36 hours before the Gazette was printed. Now it offers to give the JOURNAL $100 for any dispatch that appeared in its columns Monday that was not secured by telegraph on that day. The JOURNAL does not care a continental where or how the Gazette secures its news, and was forced into this controversy in self-defense, but it does know and can prove that at least one dispatch, which was printed in the Gazette Monday evening, was in the San Francisco papers of last Sunday.

A Social Session.

This evening the laughable comedy "A Social Session" will be played at McKissick's Opera House. The company played in Virginia City Monday night, and the Enterprise says of it:

"Piper's Opera House was well filled last evening, and the rollicking fun of the play paid the people well for attending. 'A Social Session' is a very common stage plot with a mortgage to it. Neither the plot or the mortgage though have much to do with the play, which is a sort of dramatized minstrel performance, and nobody has any time to be critical between acts. It does not open very well, but when the performers get acquainted with each other the fun begins. There are some very good singers in the company and two good dancers. The quartette singing is about the best of the music, and the 'Wild Man of Boruso' will catch any crowd that hears it for the first time. Very few better orchestras are to be heard than the one with the company. The goblin dance and plantation wedding are superb arrangements. The goblin dance is somewhat of a novelty in music, combining as it does optical and musical effects."

PESSIMISM.
Along the checkered footway of life
A youthful traveler wanders on his way;
Now viewing unconcerned some scene of strife,
Or looking on some happy child at play;
Unmindful he of others' toils and fears,
Careless he wanders on the fleeting years.
When sunbeams clothe the landscape all the earth,
Changing to their stars the grassy dew,
And wake the fragrant flowers to fragrant birth,
Painting each petal with a rainbow hue;
Beneath some shade the youth, reposing lies,
And dreams that all the world's a paradise.
Warm in his feelings, generous in thought,
He greets his fellowmen with kindly grace;
Suspects no wrong, believes in all he's taught,
And sees a friend in every smiling face;
Imagines truth within the flatterer's breast,
And thinks that virtue lives in all the rest.
But soon the pathway narrows rough and steep,
The gathering clouds thick brooding darkness shed;
The lightning's flash, the winds around him sweep,
And rending thunders crash above his head;
Painting before the blast his features a curse,
And thinks a tyrant rules the universe.
Alas! how rude the shock experience brings;
How sad the loss of faith in human kind!
The guileless notes that only memory sings
Before the blast he breathes a curse,
The youth discovers truth to be a part,
And virtue's form he sees in all the rest.
J. M. Stewart in New York Tribune.

The Laugh.
If the eyes are the windows of the soul then its door must be the laugh, which gives a very good view of the private character every now and then.
There are men the latch string of whose laughter is always out. They have wide open, generous laughs, which show a hearty, whole souled disposition, without affectations and a readiness to offer good fellowship to the stranger. Then there is a laugh which reminds one of those new fangled doors to which a chain is attached, permitting an opening just wide enough to allow a very meager glimpse of the person behind the door. This is the guarded laugh. It betrays the cool, calculating man, who makes money faster than he makes friends.
Sometimes one runs across a door which flies open with the slightest provocation. Its catch is defective. Some people laugh that way. Their laughter is frequently described as a giggle. The intellectual furnishings of the character behind such a laugh are hardly worth the looking at, although it is the easiest matter in the world to see them. They are meager, and invariably have a distressing air of newness which indicates that they are not often used.—Buffalo Express.

Ment That Is Poisoned.
"I am going to tell you one thing that is very important, and that is that every pain which any animal suffers just before dying poisons the meat," said George T. Angell, president for the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, in an address to the children of the Boston public schools and published in Our Dumb Animals.
"If you wound a bird and don't kill it, every minute its meat is growing worse."
"If you catch an animal in a steel trap, every minute it stays there its meat is growing worse."
"Some hunters will not eat the meat of a deer that has been run and worried by dogs, but only of those which have been killed by what is called still hunting—that is, which are shot and killed, and so don't suffer much before they die."
And so it is in transportation and slaughtering—all suffering just before death poisons the meat."

A Lawyer Surprised.
It is not often that a lawyer receives other recognition of his services in behalf of a client than a retainer and fee.
The feeling of most when they get through with a member of the legal fraternity is more akin to sorrow than gratitude. A Court street attorney has had a contrary experience. One of his clients, an Irish woman, who had been indicted several times, but never convicted, dropped in on him with a present. It was a handsome silk muffler.
"But you've already paid me, Mary," said the lawyer. "Nivir mind, sor," she replied, "but tuck it around your fine throat an' kape your tongue glib, for I may nade thin agin."—Boston Traveler.

Don't Go Swimming There.
The deepest lake in the world is Lake Baikal, in Siberia. Its area of over 9,000 square miles makes it about equal to Erie in superficial extent; its enormous depth of between 4,000 and 4,500 feet makes the volume of its waters almost equal to that of Lake Superior. Although its surface is 1,350 feet above the sea level its bottom is nearly 3,000 feet below it.—Exchange.

It Was Mince Pie.
A social club in Boston organized forty-six years ago never had any disagreements on politics, religion, the currency, the Indian question, love, marriage, or the hereafter, but when asked to test and report on a batch of mince pies a hot dispute arose, an open rupture followed and the club disbanded to meet no more.—Detroit Free Press.

At an afternoon wedding, even when the bride wears white, the groom should not wear a dress suit, but instead a black frock coat, black vest, colored striped trousers and pearl colored gloves.
The groom also wears white flowers in his buttonhole. The newly married pair can leave the guests in the dining room while they get ready for their journey.

The method of treating wine by electricity, devised in France, destroys the fermentation. It is thought that light wines that cannot be exported, owing to being ruined by fermentation, can by this process be sent abroad without danger.

In Caracas, dogs, cats and jervos are often noticed to get nervously active just before a shock, and immediately before the Riviera earthquake of 1887 horses were repeatedly noticed to lay their ears back and refuse to be quieted.

Queen Victoria's favorite dish for dinner is well done beef, with which she usually takes a glass of champagne. Her ordinary breakfast consists of coffee or cocoa and muffins, of which she is very fond.
